

CALL FOR PAPERS & PANELS

AICIS 2024

The 23rd
Annual International CONFERENCE
on Islamic Studies

Semarang, February, 1-4, 2024

Redefining the Roles of Religion in Addressing Human Crisis

Encountering Peace, Justice and Human Rights Issues

The interaction between religious studies (Islam) and various current humanitarian challenges requires ongoing discourse to be voiced to the world. Themes like the relationship between Islam and nationalism, citizenship, and human rights continue to seek equilibrium amidst ongoing tensions and acceptance. International social and political tensions, such as the war in Ukraine, the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, and various other conflicts around the world, constantly elicit responses imbued with strong religious sentiments. Issues of injustice, inequality in international relations, and universal humanitarian schemes remain central themes in any discussion concerning the role of religion in the contemporary era. The fundamental values of every religious teaching—justice, equality, and peace—are continuously called upon to play a crucial role in addressing these challenges.

Sub Themes

- Religion, Nationalism, and Citizenship in Southeast Asia
- (In) equality, Justice, and Humanitarian Crisis
- Religious Tensions and Global Humanity
- Gender, Spirituality, and Minority Issues
- Fiqh Siyasah on War and Peace: Post Colonial Era
- Maslahah Mursalah based Policy, Equality and Empowerment
- Impact of International Religious Issues and Tension on Nationalism, Citizenship, and Human Rights

Papers should be submitted to the AICIS 2024 website by the due date. All are invited to submit an original research paper. The papers should be in accordance with one of the conference sub-themes. Papers have not been published in any forms; written in Indonesian, English, or Arabic. The committee will bear the expenses for the accepted papers covering accommodation and meals during the conference only. The participants should be responsible to secure the transportation budget to the conference venue.

January 16-19, 2024

Full paper review

February 1-4, 2024

Conference date

Full paper submission

Dec 11, 2023-Jan 14, 2024

Announcement of speakers

January 25, 2024

